

Health Distribution By The Numbers

The Health Industry Distributors Association (HIDA) represents the healthcare distribution network — the essential link between global medical supply manufacturers and local care providers.

HIDA's customers include over half a million sites of care — 230,000 physician offices; 6,000 hospitals; 267,000 laboratories; 18,000 EMS agencies; and 44,000 nursing home and extended care facilities throughout the country, as well as numerous federal agencies and their healthcare facilities.

HIDA members employ more than 250,000 Americans, including 17,000 manufacturing jobs in 32 states.

With over 500 distribution centers,

HIDA members manage 76 million square feet of warehouse space. More than 94% of Americans live within 100 miles of a healthcare distribution center.

Distributors offer

over 1.4 million healthcare products from more than 7,300 manufacturers, processing 650 million orders each year.
